Winona, Smith County, Texas, September 21.—Last night and this morning the hardest rain fell here that has fallen in five years. It rained for at least an hour as hard as it could pour down. All roads are impassable, being torn and washed to pocces so that no traveling can be done at all by wagons and teams. The damage to the cotton crop can not be estimated correctly, but if the rain all over Smith county was as heavy as here the damage will run into thousands of dollars, as the dry hot weather has caused all cotton to open and cotton notes. has caused all cotton to open and cotton to pen and cotton to pen and cotton to pen and cotton to bek, drawn by fabulous stories of high prices, and the farmers could not get it picked.
